

PLAN OF SAFE CARE PORTFOLIO OVERVIEW

Your Plan of Safe Care Portfolio is a tool to help you organize your documents and notes. It should be updated over time to keeptrack of all your appointments, activities, and accomplishments. This will help you communicate the preparations you have made to keep you, your baby, and your family safe and healthy.

Below is a description of each tab in your portfolio and the resources included. Remember, this is YOUR portfolio, and you can customize it to best fit your needs.

TIPS & TRICKS

- Update your portfolio on a routine basis.
- Take your portfolio binder with you to all appointments, relevant meetings, hearings, and to the hospital when you deliver your baby.
- Do not leave your portfolio or any of the documents with your providers. Ask that they make a copy.
- Remember that it is OK not to answer all questions or share this with people you do not trust.

UPDATE LOG

It is important to review and update your Plan of Safe Care regularly. Please use this log to track when it was updated, who helped, and which sections were changed.

INTRODUCING YOUR PLAN OF SAFE CARE TO A PROVIDER

It can be hard to openly share personal challenges with doctors, nurses, case managers, and other service providers. We encourage you to share your Plan of Safe Care with all of your health and service providers. Knowing your difficulties and family's challenges can help them best support you and your family. However, you may not feel comfortable (yet) disclosing all of your history or even why you chose to start a Plan of Safe Care. This is ok. Remember, this is your plan and you get to choose who you share it with, when, and how much you share.

We encourage you to prepare for your first visit by identifying essential information you would like to disclose to help your providers better care for you and your baby. To help you start the conversation, we developed a few prompts. Use the one you feel most comfortable with or best describes your situation.

Generic introduction for those you don't feel comfortable sharing too much information with:

My family has a lot going on right now. To help me keep track of everything we are doing, I am using this tool called the Plan of Safe Care. I keep everything here in this binder. Would you be willing to help me complete this section [show the provider the section(s) they can help you with] and give me your business card?

If you have a substance use issue and are willing to share that information:

You may or may not know but I have a history of substance use, and I am actively working towards my recovery. To help me, I have decided to build a Plan of Safe Care to help me organize and keep track of everything I am doing as part of my recovery. This tool can also help those I am working with know more about my history, my strengths and goals, and what services I have complete and those I still need help with. As part of our visit today, I would like to share my plan with you and have you help me complete some questions. I would also like to put your business card in my binder so I can always know how to reach your office.

If you have an open child welfare (CPS) case and are willing to share that information:

My family has a lot going on right now. I am working with the Department of Family and Protective Services to ensure my children and family are safe and healthy. As part of this work, I am using a tool called the Plan of Safe Care to help me organize and keep track of everything I am doing. This tool can also help those I am working with know more about my history, my strengths and goals, and what services I have complete and those I still need help with. As part of our visit today, I would like to share my plan with you and have you help me complete some questions. I would also like to put your business card in my binder so I can always know how to reach your office.

Consent/Permission to Share Information – If you think your CPS caseworker or another service provider would want to contact this provider, you may ask if they have a form for you to sign to give them permission to do this.

I think my [CPS caseworker, lawyer, recovery coach, insert name of provider] will want to talk with you about my care here. Do you have a specific form I need to sign to give you permission to talk with them? I would also like a copy of that form to keep in my Plan of Safe Care.

What if they ask me more about the Plan of Safe Care and what is its purpose?

A Plan of Safe Care is a tool designed to help me demonstrate my progress and easily communicate what I have done and what I need from the people I am working with. My Plan of Safe Care will focus on my baby's health, development, and safety, as well as my family's physical and emotional health, substance use disorder treatment, parenting ability, and readiness to care for my baby. My portfolio can also be seen as a "recovery resume" and will help me communicate all of the work and preparations I have made for myself and my baby.

COMMUNICATIONS LOG

It may be helpful to you to keep notes on important conversations and communications you have had regarding your pregnancy, your recovery, your health or the health of your child(ren), services you are trying to receive, etc. Keep notes here and add extra pages if needed.

CONSENTS AND RELEASE OF INFORMATION

This form is intended to help you keep track of the Consents and Release of Information Forms you have signed with service providers involved in your Plan of Safe Care. This is NOT a consent form and does not give permission for organizations to share your information. You should receive a copy of any consent or release of information form you sign. You can store them in this section of your portfolio to keep track of them.

Date	Organization	Description

CONSENT AND RELEASE OF INFORMATION FAQS

Release of information and consent forms can sometimes be confusing. Understanding what they are used for and what your rights are is very important in helping you decide which form(s) you may or may not want to sign.

What is a release of information form?

A release of information form is a form you sign to allow one provider to release information to another provider. Usually, there is a place on the form to indicate what information can and cannot be shared. For example, you may sign a release of information form allowing your OB/GYN to share the results of your annual exam with your primary care provider.

What is a consent form?

A consent form is a form a doctor or community service provider might ask you to sign to givethem permission to: collect information from you, use information you provide, provide a specificservice to you, or explain the risks of a certain procedure.

What does it mean if I sign a release of information or consent form?

Signing a release of information form gives a doctor or service provider permission to share specific information with another provider. The form should include the specific information to be shared. Signing a consent form gives a doctor or service provider permission to do something (a procedure, collect or share information, etc.), and/or indicates you understand the risk(s) involved in a procedure. Your signature on a consent form means you understand what is being asked and any possible risks.

When (or where) might I be asked to sign a release of information or consent form?

Your doctor or community service provider might ask you to sign one of these forms when you area new patient/client, a new service is offered, a new procedure needs to be done, or you ask them to share your information with someone for you.

Why would I want to sign a release of information or consent form?

Doctors and other providers usually cannot share your information without your permission. For example, if you change doctors you will need to sign a release of information form for your old doctor to share your records with your new doctor.

Do I have to sign a release of information or consent forms?

You do not have to sign a release of information or consent form if you do not want to. However, signing these forms can benefit you. It may be helpful to ask what the form is for and why it is needed.

Can I change my mind after I sign a release of information or consent form?

Yes, you can let the provider know you want to remove or revoke your permission.

Can I ask questions?

YES! If you do not understand what information will be shared, who it will be shared with, and whyit is needed—ASK these questions. You have every right to know before making a decision.

CHOOSING A PEDIATRICIAN

When should I start looking for a Pediatrician?

It is never too early to look for a pediatrician and pediatric clinic that is right for you. Choosing a pediatrician before your baby is born will help you feel confident about yourbaby's care. Plus, knowing you have chosen the right doctor will help you feel calmer andmore in control. A little advance planning now will reduce future stress so you can enjoy your pregnancy as your due date approaches.

Choosing a Pediatrician who meets your needs

We recommend scheduling an interview to meet the pediatricians you are considering before your baby's birth. This will help you determine whether the pediatrician is in sync with your parenting style and principles. These "meet and greets" are a great opportunity to be honest about topics that are important to you.

The goal of your interview is to decide whether the pediatrician is the right match for youand your baby.

Questions for the office staff

- Do you accept my health insurance and are you "in-network?"
- What are the office hours? Are there evening or weekend hours to accommodate working parents?
- Does the pediatrician speak multiple languages?
- Does the practice have an after-hours answering service? Or emergency coverage?
- Do you offer same day appointments?
- On average, how long is the wait time in the waiting room?
- What services do you provide for postpartum depression and other maternal health issues?
- How close is the office to public transportation?

Decide what is important to you and do your research

Think about what things are most important to you and that are "must haves" for your pediatric office. Write these down and be sure to ask about them specifically. Ask family members, friends, and coworkers for recommendations.

It's a good idea to make sure the pediatricians you would like to interview are board-certified. Board-certified pediatricians have completed not only medical school and residency programs in pediatrics, they've also passed a rigorous exam given by the American Board of Pediatrics. To remain board-certified, pediatricians must continue theireducation through classes and workshops, demonstrate quality patient care and maintaina valid medical license to demonstrate they are up-to-date on the most current medical practices, knowledge, and skills for children of all ages. To check to see if the pediatrician you like is board-certified, go to https://www.abp.org/content/verification-certification.

CHOOSING A PEDIATRICIAN

The following is a list of interview questions to help you narrow down your search for apediatrician. Use this as a guide to make sure you make a good, informed decision.

There are no "right" or "wrong" answers, as every family's priorities and preferences are different. This tool is to ensure you pick a doctor who meets your needs.

How long have you been in practice? Are you a member of the American Academy of Pediatrics?	Do you and your staff practice trauma informed care?
Why did you choose to become a pediatrician?	What other services are offered at your clinic?
Is this a solo or group practice? If group, how often will we see other doctors in the practice?	If my child needs to see a specialist, how do you handle referrals?
Who are the doctors who will care for my child if you are not available?	How far in advance do well-child appointments need to be scheduled?
Will your initial meeting with my baby be at the hospital or at their first well-child checkup?	Does the practice have an after-hours answering service?
Do you have a subspecialty or area of pediatric interest? If so, what is it?	If you are not available on the phone, who will handle my questions? Do you respond to questions by email?
If I have routine/non-emergency questions, who should I contact and when?	Other questions you want to ask:
